Present Continuous (I am doing)

A

Study this example situation:

Ann is in her car. She is on her way to work. She is driving to work. This means: she is driving now, at the time of speaking. The action is not finished.

Am/is/are -ing is the present continuous:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>I am (= I'm)</th>
<th>he/she/it is (= he's, etc.)</th>
<th>driving</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>we/you/they are (= we're, etc.)</td>
<td>working</td>
<td>doing, etc.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

B

I am doing something = I'm in the middle of doing something; I've started doing it and I haven't finished yet. Often the action is happening at the time of speaking:

- Please don't make so much noise. I'm working. (not I work)
- "Where's Lauren?" "She's taking a bath." (not She takes a bath)
- Let's go out now. It isn't raining anymore. (not It doesn't rain)
- (at a party) Hello, Lisa. Are you enjoying the party? (not Do you enjoy)
- I'm tired. I'm going to bed now. Good night!

But the action is not necessarily happening at the time of speaking. For example:

Tom and Ann are talking. Tom says:

I'm reading an interesting book at the moment. I'll lend it to you when I've finished it.

Tom is not reading the book at the time of speaking. He means that he has started it but has not finished it yet. He is in the middle of reading it.

Here are some more examples:

- Maria wants to work in Italy, so she is studying Italian. (but perhaps she isn't studying Italian exactly at the time of speaking)
- Some friends of mine are building their own house.

C

We use the present continuous when we talk about things happening in a period around now (for example, today / this week / tonight, etc.):

- "You're working hard today." "Yes, I have a lot to do." (not You work hard today)
- "Is Sarah working this week?" "No, she's on vacation."

We use the present continuous when we talk about changes happening now or around now:

- The population of the world is rising very fast. (not rises)
- Is your English getting better? (not Does your English get better?)

Study this example situation:

Alex is a bus driver, but now he is in bed asleep. So:

He is not driving a bus. (He is asleep.)

but He drives a bus. (He is a bus driver.)

drive(s)/work(s)/do(es), etc., is the simple present.

I/we/you/they drive/work/do, etc.
he/she/it drives/works/does, etc.

Use the simple present to talk about things in general. We use it to say that something happens all the time or repeatedly or that something is true in general. It is not important whether the action is happening at the time of speaking:

- Nurses take care of patients in hospitals.
- I usually leave for work at 8:00 A.M.
- The earth goes around the sun.

Remember that we say he/she/it -s. Don’t forget the s:

I work . . . but He works . . .
They teach . . . but My sister teaches . . .

For spelling (-s or -es), see Appendix 5.

We use do/does to make questions and negative sentences:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>do</th>
<th>I/we/you/they do</th>
<th>work?</th>
<th>I/we/you/they don’t work</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>does</td>
<td>he/she/it does</td>
<td>come?</td>
<td>he/she/it doesn’t come</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>do?</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>do?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- I come from Canada. Where do you come from?
- “Would you like a cigarette?” “No, thanks. I don’t smoke.”

In the following examples do is also the main verb:

- “What do you do?” (= What’s your job?) “I work in a department store.”
- He’s so lazy. He doesn’t do anything to help me. (not He doesn’t anything)

We use the simple present when we say how often we do things:

- I get up at 8:00 every morning. (not I’m getting)
- How often do you go to the dentist? (not How often are you going?)
- Julie doesn’t drink coffee very often.
- In the summer John usually plays tennis once or twice a week.

Note the position of always/never/usually, etc. (before the main verb):

- Sue always looks happy. (not Sue looks always)
- I never drink coffee at night.
- What time do you usually get home after work?

For word order, see also Unit 107.

Present Continuous (I am doing)

We use the present continuous for something that is happening at or around the time of speaking. The action is not finished.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>I am doing</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>past</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>now</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>future</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- The water is boiling. Could you turn it off?
- Listen to those people. What language are they speaking?

- A: Don't disturb me. I'm busy.
  B: Why? What are you doing?
- I'm going to bed now. Good night.
- Maria is in Vancouver now. She's learning English.

Use the present continuous for temporary situations:
- I'm living with some friends until I find an apartment.
- "You're working hard today." "Yes, I've got a lot to do."

See Unit 1 for more information.

Simple Present (I do)

We use the simple present for things in general or things that happen repeatedly.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>I do</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>past</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>now</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>future</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Use the simple present for permanent situations:
- My parents live in Boston. They have lived there all their lives.
- John isn't lazy. He works very hard most of the time.

See Unit 2 for more information.

I always do and I'm always doing

Usually we say "I always do something" (= I do it every time):
- I always go to work by car (not I'm always going)

You can also say "I'm always doing something," but this has a different meaning.

For example:

- I've lost my key again. I'm always losing things.

"I'm always losing things" does not mean that I lose things every time. It means that I lose things too often or more often than normal.

You're always -ing means that you do something very often, more often than the speaker thinks is normal or reasonable.

- You're always watching TV. You should do something more active.
- John is never satisfied. He's always complaining.

Present Continuous and Simple Present (2)
(I am doing and I do)

We can use continuous tenses only for actions and happenings (they are eating / it is raining, etc.). Some verbs (for example, know and like) are not action verbs. You cannot say “I am knowing” or “they are liking”; you can only say I know, they like.

The following verbs are not normally used in continuous tenses:

- like
- love
- hate
- want
- need
- prefer
- know
- realize
- suppose
- mean
- understand
- believe
- remember
- belong
- contain
- consist
- depend
- seem

I'm hungry. I want something to eat. (not I'm wanting)
Do you understand what I mean?
Kim doesn't seem very happy right now.

When think means “believe,” do not use the continuous:

- What do you think (= believe) will happen? (not What are you thinking)
- You look serious. What are you thinking about? (= What is going on in your mind?)
- I'm thinking of quitting my job. (= I am considering)

When have means “possess,” etc., do not use the continuous (see Unit 16):

- We're enjoying our trip. We have a nice room in the hotel. (not We're having)
- We're enjoying our trip. We're having a great time.

See hear smell taste

We normally use the simple present (not continuous) with these verbs:

- Do you see that man over there? (not Are you seeing)
- This room smells. Let's open a window.

We often use can + see/hear/smell/taste:

- Listen! Can you hear something?

Note that you can say I'm seeing when the meaning is “having a meeting with” (especially in the future — see Unit 18A):

- I'm seeing the manager tomorrow morning.

He is selfish and He is being selfish

He's being = He's behaving / He's acting. Compare:

- I can't understand why he's being so selfish. He isn't usually like that.
  (being selfish = behaving selfishly at the moment)
- He never thinks about other people. He is very selfish. (not He is being)
  (= he is selfish generally, not only at the moment)

We use am/is/are being to say how somebody is behaving. It is not usually possible in other sentences:

- It's hot today. (not It is being hot)
- Sarah is very tired. (not is being tired)

Look and feel

You can use simple present or continuous to say how somebody looks or feels now:

- You look good today. or You're looking good today.
- How do you feel now? or How are you feeling now?
- I usually feel tired in the morning. (not I'm usually feeling)

Present simple (I do) and present continuous (I am doing) (1)

We use the present simple to describe things that are always true, or situations that exist now and, as far as we know, will go on indefinitely:
• It takes me five minutes to get to school.
• Trees grow more quickly in summer than in winter.
• Liz plays the violin brilliantly.

To talk about particular actions or events that have begun but have not ended at the time of speaking, we use the present continuous:
• The car isn’t starting again.
• ‘Who are you phoning?’ ‘I’m trying to get through to Joan.’
• The shop is so inefficient that many customers are taking their business elsewhere.

We often use time expressions such as at the moment, at present, currently, just, and still to emphasise that the action or event is happening now:
• ‘Have you done the shopping?’ ‘I’m just going.’

Notice that the action or event may not be going on at the time of speaking:
• The police are talking to a number of people about the robbery.

We use the present simple to talk about habits or things that happen on a regular basis:
• I leave work at 5.30 most days.
• Each July we go to Turkey for a holiday.

However, when we describe repeated actions or events that are happening at or around the time of speaking, we use the present continuous:
• Why are you jumping up and down?
• I’m hearing a lot of good reports about your work these days.

We can use the present continuous or the present simple to describe something that we regularly do at a particular time. Compare:
• We usually watch the news on TV at 9.00. (= we start watching at 9.00)
• We’re usually watching the news on TV at 9.00. (= we’re already watching at 9.00)

We use the present continuous to imply that a situation is or may be temporary. Compare:
• Banks lend money to make a profit. (this is what usually happens)
• Banks are lending more money (these days) to encourage businesses to expand. (implies a temporary arrangement)
• She teaches Maths in a school in Bonn. (a permanent arrangement)
• She’s teaching Maths in a school in Bonn. (implies that this is not, or may not be, permanent)

We often use the present simple with verbs that perform the action they describe:
• I admit I can’t see as well as I used to. (= an admission)
• I refuse to believe that he didn’t know the car was stolen. (= a refusal)

Other verbs like this (sometimes called performative verbs) include accept, acknowledge, advise, apologise, assume, deny, guarantee, hope, inform, predict, promise, recommend, suggest, suppose, warn.

We can use modals with performative verbs to make what we say more tentative or polite:
• I would advise you to arrive two hours before the flight leaves.
• I’m afraid I have to inform you that your application for funding has been turned down.
EXERCISES

We often prefer to use the present simple rather than the present continuous with verbs describing states:

- I really enjoy travelling.
- The group currently consists of five people, but we hope to get more members soon.

Other common state verbs include agree, assume, believe, belong to, contain, cost, disagree, feel, hate, have, hope, know, like, look, love, own, prefer, realise, regret, resemble, smell, taste.

However, we can use the present continuous with some state verbs when we want to emphasise that a situation is temporary, for a period of time around the present. Compare:

- I consider him to be extremely fortunate. (This is my view) and
- I'm considering taking early retirement. (This is something I'm thinking about now)

- The children love having Jean stay with us. (They love it when Jean stays) and
- The children are loving having Jean stay with us. (Jean is staying with us now)

With some verbs used to describe a temporary state (e.g. ache, feel, hurt, look (= seem)), there is little difference in meaning when we use the present simple and present continuous:

- What's the matter with Bill? He looks is looking awful.

When have has a non-state meaning – for example when it means 'eat', 'undergo', 'take' or 'hold' – we can use the present continuous:

- 'What's that terrible noise?' The neighbours are having a party.

We use the present continuous when we talk about changes, developments, and trends:

- The growing number of visitors is damaging the footpaths.
- I'm beginning to realise how difficult it is to be a teacher.

When we tell a story or joke we often describe the main events using the present (or past) simple and longer, background events using the present (or past) continuous:

- She goes (or went) up to this man and looks (or looked) straight into his eyes. She's carrying (or was carrying) a bag full of shopping...

We can also use the present simple and present continuous like this in commentaries (for example, on sports events) and in giving instructions:

- King serves to the left hand court and Adams makes a wonderful return. She's playing magnificent tennis in this match...
- You hold the can in one hand. Right, you're holding it in one hand; now you take off the lid with the other.

When we want to emphasise that something is done repeatedly, we can use the present continuous with words like always, constantly, continually, or forever. Often we do this when we want to show that we are unhappy about it, including our own behaviour:

- They're constantly having parties until the early hours of the morning.

We use the past continuous (see Unit 6) in the same way:

- He was forever including me in his crazy schemes.

The present simple is used to report what we have heard or what we have read:

- This newspaper article explains why unemployment has been rising so quickly.

We also use the present simple in spoken English in phrases such as I gather, I hear, I see, and I understand to introduce news that we have heard, read or seen (e.g. on television):

- I gather you're worried about the new job?
- The Prince is coming to visit, and I hear he's very rich.
